At Home Sociable Held $100 Bill of Young Man's Roll and Was Arrested.

HE MADE COMPLAINT.

Told Police He Had Been Robbed and Pointed Out the Young Woman.

OFFERED TO RETURN MONEY

Man Appeared in Court to Press Theft Charge, and She Is Held.

joke, Miss Maria Fagendorf, a respectmother at No. 66 Garfield place, Brooklyn, was locked up in a cell in the Clermont Avenue Station-House all of last night, and to-day was arraigned a prisoner in the Myrtle Avenue Court on a charge of grand larceny.

The young man who took the joke so seriously that he caused the girl's arrest is Frederick Schwartz, of No. 112 Berkeley place, Brooklyn, who is om-ployed in the Brewers' Exchange, on Chatham Square, Manhattan.

Mrs. Fagendorf last night gave a lit tle party at her home in honor of the twenty-third birthday of Robert Nash, a friend of the family. Schwartz was among the fifteen guests who were in-vited. Schwartz is blessed with more money than most of his friends, and about midnight, for some reason not explained, he began to talk of his prosperity. He ended his conversation by displaying a roll of bills containing $700. $100 Bill the Cause.

The outside bill of the roll was a $100 certificate. Miss Fagendorf never seen a $100 bill, and she asked permission to examine it. While looking at it another young man, perhaps inspired by jealousy, made the following cynical observation: think that's stage money,

"Well, I'll just hold it and see," said Miss Fagendorf, and a half an hour later, when she went out to get some supper in a nearby restaurant, she said she was going out to try the bill on the restaurant man. Schwartz waited around with the other guests for some time, and then began to get worried about his mone?

Finally he got up and left the house.

Instead of seeking Miss Fagendor he went to the Bergen street station, told the sergeant on duty that he had been robbed of $100 and offered to show a detective the thief. He led an officer to a restaurant where Miss Fagendorf and some of her lends were eating supper and had the arrested.

Fagendorf and her friends were tanant at her arrest. At the station louise the girl produced $98, which she said was the change from the $100 bill. She had done what she said she was going to do-find out if the bill was good. She denied any intention of stealing the money, and Schwartz wanted withdraw the complaint, but was not allowed to. Miss Fagendorf was taker to the Clermont avenue station, where there is a matron, and locked up.

To-day she was arraigned before Magistrate Naumer and Schwartz made a complaint of larcenv against her. As he insisted on pressing the complaint, the girl was held in $500 bail for trial.

GIRL SAVED FROM DEATH BY A DOG

Animal Barks for Help as Young Woman, Unconscious from Explosion, Lies in Front of Approaching Train.

LADOGA, Ind., Aug. 31.-With no one near her but a faithful dog that was making an effort to call assistance, Miss Mand Heitzner, living near here was picked up unconscious from the railroad track just a few moments before a heavy freight train dashed over the spot where the girl had been found by her uncle.

Miss Heltzner, who is fifteen years old, accompained by her shepherd dog, was walking on the railroad track when she discovered what appeared to be a meta tube. Anxious to see what it contained, she picked it up and began pounding it with a rock. In a few seconds there was on explosion, and the girl was thrown heavily to the track. The tube contained sanisting that something was wrong. the dog began to bark, and the attention of Frank Banton, an uncle of the giri, who was at work 200 yards away, was attracted. He hastened to the scene in time to save his niece from the train, which was fast approaching.

unusually good value at A GREAT SALE OF ONE THOUSAND $3.00 pure silk umbrellas at $1.59.

FOR MEN AND WOMEN. WE couldn't buy another such lot of umbrellas at the price in years, and don't believe any other store could. We're not going to print in glaring headlines, positively the greatest bargain New York has ever known, as we don't want to create too great a sensation. We want you to be the judge.

They're goods of standard quality—pure, heavy twill silks—not the slazy, sheer silk, but a pure thread silk of exceptional quality that not only looks rich and lustrous, but is bound to give satisfaction. Paragon frames, of course, the most sub-stantial made—have the lock ribs and small steel rods. Cases to match are made of the same quality silk as in coverings.

The handles are good, but not elaborate. What you want NOW is a good, strong, serviceable umbrella. and fortunately all the expense of making these shower sticks is put into the parts where it is most needed to make them storm-resisting. The handles are imported natural woods, Crooks and Roots, Furze, Box, Weichsel and Birch, Princess, Opera designs. Unquestionably the best $3.00 umbrella made. Sizes 26 and 28.
